As you know, I’m in my second year of film studies and, for the last month, I’ve been working on a short film based on the life of Emmeline Pankhurst, who campaigned for the right for women to vote in Britain in the early 20th century. We have found actors for all the main roles but, for one scene, we’re going to need people to be the audience listening to Emmeline speak in a village hall. We’re filming it on 12th May in Bristol. It’ll only take a couple of hours, starting at 8am. So, if you’re interested, please let me know. It’s not paid, of course, but it should be a lot of fun.

I  A blog

Richard Greenaway’s latest novel, Bring Him Back, is about Sandy, who has spent all her life on a farm in Kansas. She doesn’t get on with her father, who has become cold and distant since her mother died, and she has only one good friend at school – Jason. One day, Jason disappears and all his friends except Sandy think he has run away from home. It turns out that Jason has been kidnapped by aliens who have landed on Earth. This made me laugh and I’m sure I wasn’t supposed to. It certainly won’t please Greenaway’s fans who are used to his high-school romances, some of which have become bestsellers.

35. The blogger is writing about
   A. a book he or she has just read  B. a story about a farmer and his son  C. a novel by an unknown writer  D. the first novel by a new author

36. What do we know about Sandy?
   A. Her mother’s death changed her father.  B. Her father left home after a family tragedy.  C. She lives in a city.  D. She is popular.

37. What do we know about Jason?
   A. He has run away.  B. He met some strangers out of state.  C. His abductors are from another planet.  D. Sandy is his only friend.

38. Find the sentence about Greenaway that isn’t true.
   A. He didn’t intend the book to be funny.  B. People who like his books enjoy romantic fiction.  C. In this book, his usual readers won’t find what they’re expecting.  D. He wrote this high-school romance because his other books aren’t successful.
